Badoo to be removed from Windows Store! Are you affected? Badoo (or Internetkamera) is a popular photo sharing application created by Badoo Ltd. The program was launched in mid-2010 and had been downloaded over 100 million times. Badoo is still a well-known application and recently reached the 10 billion downloads milestone. Badoo was one of the first applications to be accepted for the Windows Store. It was first uploaded to the Windows Store on November, 15th 2014. It was the only application in the Windows Store that was launched in the 1980s (since Windows 3.0), which was quite an amusing addition to the Windows Store. It is the first application that joined the Windows Store in 2012, back in January of 2012. In November of 2014, it was the 7th most-downloaded application in the Windows Store, according to the Microsoft Store. It was the second photo app to be launched in the Windows Store, after Bing Photos. It was named one of the best apps of 2014 by PCMag, as well as the one of the best apps of 2015 by Wired. It was one of the first "chatroulette-like" apps to be launched in the Windows Store. The application is not free to use; however, the free version does not include limited access to the images on one'
